2020-2021 Graduates

Response to: What suggestions do you have for improving MSSU?

Advisors that respond to emails
Better communication between departments. I had someone call me about enrolling in the fall and didn't realize that I was graduating this summer.
Bring more speakers to campus with conservative/libertarian viewpoints. Avoid falling into the trap of teaching students to define themselves and others primarily based on race/ethnicity, sexual orientation, gender, etc. These kinds of ideologies are highly destructive to the personal well-being of students and to our society generally.
Cafeteria food and library buildings
Communication between faculty to faculty as well as faculty to student
Filling all the gaps in administration, having a designated MSSU admin person that handles the co-op program with Ozark Christian College - lots of miscommunication and ignorance of the issues those students run into, and most staff don't really know how to handle them because no one at MSSU is familiar with the logistics of the program.
For online classes, I think having a universal template for a class schedule would be very helpful. Each teacher has a different format which makes it difficult to know when assignments are due, etc. If teachers are using the same template, it could be a more smooth process.
For the graduate program, I would offer a time in class where you work on your resume, reference letters, etc...
For the MSSU distance learning, it would be great to set up a remote session with the team and advisor when admitted. I would have also benefited being told the degree information (including assessments and internships) were on blackboard.
Get student input. Try to keep students involved with volunteer programs, etc.
Get the chemistry department ACS accredited. Also offer a course for each degree that aids with grad school applications. It's such a different process for each degree that you need someone who is in each field's expertise.
Give the graduates next year a real ceremony. We have all been through a tumultuous year, and the least you can do as a university is commemorate their dedication with a true ceremony. Most other surrounding universities made this possible, and it's a bit disappointing that MSSU did not.
Have more teaching training for professors. Just because they hold doctorates or masters doesn't mean they will do well at teaching. Mssu could hold more upper-level courses in the evening so that you have an option of "in class" or "online" if you work full time.
I believe that Teacher Education needs to be more accommodating with disability services. I believe that there needs to be more diversity on campus and more events that celebrate it.
I had a great experience at Missouri Southern. My only suggestion is that I wish people knew/took advantage of all the opportunities department's like Career Services and Student Life provided.
I honestly don't have anything than just keep growing. MSSU is the best decision I have ever made, and the school has offered me so much.
I loved everything about it.
I loved my experience at MSSU. If anything, I wish there were more options when it comes to scholarships and financial aid for those who need it.
I would have preferred to see more options for accounting majors. A CMA option would have been nice. The Wiley program I do not feel holds a lot of value. As a Masters student, I felt that those dollars would have been better spent by offering students a Becker study package, instead of making the Wiley quizzes mandatory.
I would look into using Canvas as an online site for grades and assignments. It's much more user friendly than Blackboard.
I'm not the only student that hated the ridiculous nickel-and-diming when it came to extra fees. They add up. Paying for college without swamping ourselves in debt is already hard enough. Also, the fact that I paid over 3 grand just to student teach will never sit well with me. I worked my butt off full time for zero pay, and had to pay a large sum of money to do so. And no I do not think that attending a 6 hour seminar with professors 4 times over the course of the semester made the price justifiable.
Improve the nursing department- get more hands on clinical experiences
Improve your online classes and make tuition more affordable and have advisors that will not change.
Improved Financial aid services.
Information technology department needs more teachers that will have patience and allow for extra help to pass classes.
Invest in greek life and football before you buy more buildings. You want to have dedicated persons to dedicate themselves to southern and regardless of reputations, greek life does more for school events than any other organization
It does not make sense to give a student a parking ticket for parking in a lot without restrictions. That is the entire point of "No Restrictions".
It was felt like an inconvenience to ever try to talk to my advisor and he messed up my schedule 3 semesters in a row. Maybe some sort of advisor training if there already isn't one
Keep better track of classes needed to graduate. I was told I was done and had met all criteria then got a letter the Saturday before summer school started that I still needed to take more classes.
Keep Mock Trial
Learning how to better motivate students without "busy" work. Faculty are over worked and are clearly burnt out, that goes to the students as well.
Make on campus more accessible in the evening for older students who work fulltime during the day I couldn't take classes for a degree I want because they were daytime on campus only. Very Frustrating.
More careers support and involvement from companies willing to hire international students would be useful. This was an aspect I found difficult closer to graduation. Providing career fairs, especially in collaboration with other universities would also be good.
More classes at varying times for science majors. I tried out several majors and science classes have the fewest options and present the most challenges to students. More online classes would be nice too, especially for 100 and 200 level courses. For instance I needed to take one physics course and I liked mine better when it switched to online during the pandemic. I could learn the concepts without having to learn tools I would never use in my job. The online version better met my needs.
More diversity
More funding in the music department. The lack of usable equipment and facilities was embarrassing.
More help from advisors - more follow up

Response to: What suggestions do you have for improving MSSU? (Continued)

More input from advisors!!! Teachers should be evaluated!!!
More Parking!
More post graduate internship opportunities
More professor involvement in distance learning
Need better international business program. More travel.
Offer Masters in more subjects (a LOT more); offer more languages; and make it so that when a student signs up for an abroad trip for school, it doesn't get cancelled literally every year they sign up for it - because that is the primary reason I chose this school over MSU, and every France trip I signed up for got canceled by the school.
Offer more sections of each class. Have a stand-alone class for seniors to get them ready to apply for graduate schools (making a CV, interview prep, general advice). Continue to expand the biology research done at MSSU. Offer more study abroad classes, especially some specifically tailored towards pre-meds.
Parking. More tracks for graduation.
PAY STUDENT TEACHERS It's recommended we not work during professional semester so money is a struggle.
Please fix the buildings. Updates and fixing things like ceilings and paint would go along ways.
Post more about upcoming important graduation dates.
Putting the annex trailers closer to Taylor Hall.
Reopen the old library hours
Sometimes professors would change throughout the summer/Christmas break, even if you had "priority" or senior status and got first pick. Whats the point of picking your classes and specific professors if they can change? I understand certain situations happen, life happens! I didn't like that we weren't notified by the change. Any update to my schedule should be top priority. Loved my time though, go lions!!
Stop spending so much money on athletics (specifically football) and use that money for other programs. Pay your professors better, otherwise you may not be getting the best talent
Students need better access to math tutoring
Support your students, for example, allowing students to achieve honors when achieving high grades. I was denied because of a few credits, even though I have a 3.9+ GPA.
The biggest thing for me is that specials teachers don't receive specials classes. Almost every class for teachers are made for the general teacher, and that means we specials are basically thrown into the fire, so to speak. I feel that Southern could do a better job at preparing specials teachers for the real world.
The Lions Den is sad. It's not affordable or good. Students need a solid food source on campus.
The Technology Department degree programs should be promoted through media. There are numerous amounts of careers in this area. The skills learned in the program have opened doors for me that I never knew existed.
Upper-classman housing available, like a normal apartment complex (ex. families, pets, etc.)
Work with advisors on communicating more.
Y'all need to introduce the Oil and Gas and Real Estate industries into your job fairs !!!
Yes, prepare students in their junior year getting ready for real world and prepare for life after graduating. More guidance.
